

March 26, Wednesday

19:00 PM - ...

Informal preconference get-together at "Noku" (Pikk 5, code:2580)

March 27, Thursday	M-218	M-213
9:00 - 9:30	Registration (Mare 2nd floor next to M-218)
09:30 - 10:00	Welcome coffee (Mare 3rd floor)
10:00 - 10:15	Opening (M-218)
10:15 - 11:45	1a. Language and perception	1b. Complexities of statecraft
	Natalia Siereda Intertwining linguistics and Arabic Studies in a qualitative study of Arabic-English language contact	Linda Liebriede The Role of Legal Philosophy in the Historical Development of Criminal Procedure Law
	Discussions	Reinis Ivanovs Economic relations as a driving force for the development of the institution of damages
		Dovydas Skarolskis Ordoliberal Ouroboros: How the Critical Nature of German Neoliberalism Emerges in Interdisciplinary Research
11:45 - 12:00	Coffee break
12:00 - 13:30	2a. People through technology	2b. Perceiving queerness
	Amitié Lee Exploring Human-AI-Nature Entanglements in Extinction Scenarios: An Interdisciplinary Approach to Posthuman Futures	Eha Emilia Oras "The Words That Weren't": An Interdisciplinary Approach to the Problem of Labels in the Study of the History of Gender and Sexuality
	Elizabete Grudovska Immersive thanatechnologies for dark heritage: How to approach digital death	Alisa Zhabenko Researching the Invisible: Queer Methodology and the Erased Stories of Lesbian Mothers in Russia
	Justas Petronis From Logic Gates to Neural States: How Computers Taught Us We're Not Computers	Polina Kislitsyna Being Queer in Pre-2022 Russia: Intersections of Sexual and Civil Identities
13:30 - 14:30	Lunch
14:30 - 15:30	Keynote - Prof. Dr. Maximilian Schich (M-218) Surviving multidisciplinary
15:30 - ...	Optional guided Tallinn tour in Kadriorg
18:00 - ...	Science slam (M-218)
20:00 - ...	Dinner at "Humalakoda" (Kopli 1)

March 28, Friday	M-218	M-213
10:15 - 11:45	3a. Stories in spaces	3b. From models to humanities
	Alisa Miller Space Impact on Jewish Response during Holocaust: Vilna Ghetto case study	Mark Mets Automatic annotations with generative models as move towards interdisciplinarity
	Lucya Passiatore Bridging Anthropology and Climatology: Exploring Climate Change Through Gender, Place-Identity, and Foodscapes	Paul Götz What's for Dinner? A Novel Approach to European Luxury Foodstuff Consumption, c. 1500-1850
	Tetyana Kasima Thresholds and porous spaces in Virginia Woolf, Clarice Lispector and Jhumpa Lahir's Cities
11:45 - 12:00	Coffee break
12:00 - 13:30	4a. Intermingled histories	4b. Narratives from form to impact
	Karl Peeter Valk The Clock and the Horologist: Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Medieval Mechanistic Thought	Nícollas Cayann DEPICTNESS: otherness through graphic depictions
	Justinas Ambrazas Early Christianity at the Interdisciplinary Crossroads: Rethinking Growth and Identity Formation	Rahul Sharma On the Eastern borderlands: Representation of Peripheral in-between Identities in Olga and Olga (2017) and Eksperiment Katja (2020)
	Benjamin Pfannes Interdisciplinary Approaches to Contemporary History: The Case of the Franco-German Brigade	Giada Covini Exploring Modal Particles in German Theater through Linguistics and Literature
13:30 - 14:30	Lunch
14:30 - 15:30	Keynote - Prof. Dr. Anne E. C. McCants (M-218) Strategies for Pursuing Interdisciplinary History
15:30 - 16:00	Coffee break
16:00 - 17:30	5. Researcher identity (M-218)
	Sara Barbo Between: Interdisciplinary Research, Identity, and Practices of Home-Making
	Sanna Kähkönen Ethnology and History of Knowledge Benefits and Challenges
	Aman Asif, Valentina Guccini Co-creating interdisciplinary knowledge across science and design with microalgae
17:30 - ...	Closing (M-218)	